

PRESS RELEASE

Project Profile: Steve Goldsworthy, Sales Director for Zip-Clip Ltd. has been busy recently. Not only is he involved with his local youth soccer program but he also has managed to secure the installation of Kwik Locs with Zip-Clip's cable suspension systems on the new Olympic stadium in London, England. "The ease and speed of installation was of great importance to the contractor when choosing the best solution for suspending different services" said Steve. Zip-Clip has made great strides in expanding the UK market for Kwik Locs, even during the recent economic downturn. "We look forward to capitalizing on the coming upturn in business, with Rize and Zip-Clip working closely together to ensure we are well placed for the future" comments Steve. We all look forward to increased business in 2010 and to seeing the Olympics in London in 2012.
